

Eagle Roofing Products Partners with APOC to Expand Roofing Components Offering with Eagle Armor by APOC

A high-performance underlayment that provides protection for homes and commercial buildings from hot, humid conditions, blistering sun, rain, wind and more.

RIALTO, Calif. (PRWEB) May 16, 2019 -- Eagle Roofing Products has partnered with APOC, a premier manufacturer of construction and maintenance products, to launch its newest roofing component, Eagle Armor by APOC, for customers along the East Coast.

Eagle Armor by APOC is a premium, all-purpose fleece top underlayment and leak barrier suited for concrete tile roofs, metal roofing systems, and foam or mechanically fastened roof systems. Its patented three compound adhesive system and reinforced seamed technology provides maximum waterproofing protection, preventing wind driven rain, ice dams, leaks and water damage.

“Eagle is proud to partner with APOC. As the professional division of Gardner-Gibson, one of the oldest coating manufacturers in America, they have a wealth of manufacturing expertise in producing coatings, sealants and construction products. Eagle Armor by APOC allows us to add a top-quality USA Owned, USA Made product to our growing line of tile roof system components,” said Tyler Allwood, Director of Business Development. “We feel strongly that this new underlayment will benefit our customers by providing them with another necessary component in order to install a proper, long-lasting tile roof system.”

In addition, customers will benefit from a 30 Year Protection Plus Limited Warranty associated with Eagle Armor by APOC.
