John said, “We have a ton of new internal and external projects in the works. We recently launched an online reservation system, Time Is Money, to better help our customers with reduced truck turnaround times, and now we are rolling out Order Eagle 2.0, a new and improved ordering platform to benefit distributors, roofers and dispatchers. We are also creating meaningful roof tile systems with our products and updated components offering to help our roofing partners simplify the selling process. Eagle has attributed its success to its unwavering commitment to stellar customer service. Regardless of role or status, the company has firmly developed a company culture that prioritizes transparency, reliability and quality to ensure that every customer’s needs are met. Like John reiterated, “We wouldn’t have gotten this far without our team members. And it is because of them that we'll celebrate another 35 years and more."
